- Bupa has stated that in time it will be willing to consider reimbursement for practitioners registered on Accredited Voluntary Registers (AVRs) such as the CNHC register. However to date it has not made this commitment.
The Professional Standards Authority (PSA) included the following comment from Bupa in a recent bulletin: 'Given the value we place on quality assurance of providers, Bupa supports the work of the Professional Standards Authority to accredit voluntary registers of health and social care practitioners. In due course, once the scheme has taken off, we may wish to review Bupa recognition criteria to reflect membership of an accredited voluntary register.'
We will keep registrants updated as and when this situation changes.

Please note CNHC will continue to work with these and other private health cash plan providers to widen the scope of reimbursement and will provide further information in future news updates
